

Fuelling Passion

October 22, 2020

Hosted by Duncan Ebata and Fahima Gibrel

With guests MAJE and Ryan Veltmeyer

What struck us about these stories (including our own)?

From the chat stream, curated by theme.

Just doing it, stepping in

- Being called to the stage, to the dance floor, to life...
- Letting go into the moment after all the preparation...without second thought, just stepping into the energy that waits.
- Being in our passion. And in stillness. Letting these flow.
- Regardless of the medium, there was a common denominator in the feeling of aligned energy or flow experienced.
- Taking risks, not having to be classically trained to be a musician, not standing in our own way.
- The story of stepping into your passion and the skills will follow. Youth often take that step.
- Slowing down, deepening into the earth, feeling some sanity there—then let go, express...
- Reminder to find passion in learning about our heritage.
- Making room, slowing down.

Invitation of the arts

- Arts open the hearts..thank you all.
- The physical creation of art and the purpose we give it is important for me. I'd like to commit to making more/some.

Willing to be surprised

- Taking ourselves to unfamiliar places - on the land, under trees.
- Surprising moments, shared process.
- Being willing to be surprised when we think things are going to turn out one way and they end up turning out better than we imagined.

How alive we feel.

- I really appreciate the good energy everyone brought to the call today. Very difficult to communicate like this in video usually, but somehow it feels like genuine connections. So well done and thank you.
- How alive we all looked and felt telling our stories.
- Some nostalgia for the power of physical presence with others to generate that energy.
- Feeling raw.
- Thank you for the opportunity to relive this moment, I forgot how important it was to me!
- Love the genuine quality of this call and the youthful wisdom and energy. Feeling positive. Thanks.

Closing...

YES! Sing it MAJE!

Thanks MAJE! Second time I've heard your story about the songwriting competition and it still just as exciting. Looking forward to working with you!

That's amazing! Getting the chills

MAJE that was amazing!

thanks MAJE! love to you!

More power to your words

Taking away great positive energy , everyone. Thank you!

We appreciate you, Ryan, and all who brought us this call. Thanks so much.
